SEEKS TO SPEED 'LEVY' TRIALS

At the End of the Trail

Two gun-toting brothers reached the end of a bloody trail yesterday in Illinois. After fatally wounding a state trooper, kidnaping a farmer and his son, and staging a gun battle with other officers, one was killed and the other wounded and captured. Top picture shows Clarence Easton, slain as he sought to flee from pursuing officers. At the bottom, his brother, Orelle, is shown after surrendering.

City Blamed for Delay In Woodland Job

MATERIAL NOT ON HAND, WPA OFFICIAL SAYS

Engineer Hopes to Get $75,000 Water Improvement Under Way on July 7.

AWAIT CITY CONTRIBUTION

Sidewalk Work Employing 100 Threatened With Supply of Cement Nearly Gone.

Blame for the delay in starting the $75,000 Woodland water improvement was placed on the city today as the WPA announced work on the project will get under way July 7.

J. L Kelly, director of WPA district six which includes Richland county, said in Columbus today that all materials to be furnished by the federal government were on the job but that the city had failed to have its contribution on hand, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Points to Contract.

Kelly pointed out that the contract calls for the city to furnish all pipe fittings, connections and valves, and that they must be on hand before the work can be started. He said that workmen had already been assigned and all that was necessary was "city co-operation."

He said this was necessary so that back filling and paving can follow up immediately the trenching and pipe laying and keep to a minimum the amount of open trench on the heavily travelled U. S. route 42, which would include Lexington avenue from Cook road to Blanche street.

Confers With City.

In the meantime Philip Herzog of Newark, district area WPA engineer in charge of the project arrived in Mansfield today to consult with city officials in an effort to start the project.

Herzog said that barring unforeseen delay the project would be launched July 7 Thirty-four men who are completing the Bellville sewer project today will be transferred here. He said city officials had assured him that the city materials will be on hand at that time in order that another 100 men could be assigned to the project.

With the Woodland project settled, Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert announced that a new difficulty had arose on the city-wide WPA curb and gutter improvement project which threatened to throw approximately 100 men out of work.

Styert said only enough cement was on the job to last until the first of the week and that WPA officials in Columbus had told him over the telephone today that no materials could be delivered in Mansfield until after July 20.

He said the city had offered to buy the cement and then accept the federal material in return when it could be delivered but that the offer had been turned down.

Mother Directs Hunt For Son

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, member of a wealthy Chicago publishing family, is shown at the top as she directed the search for her son, Medill, 21, missing since last Wednesday in the mountains of New Mexico. The body of his companion on a mountain-climbing expedition has been recovered. Bottom picture shows North Sandia peak, which young McCormick was believed to have attempted to scale.

Search for Missing Heir Shifted to Base of Peak

Abandon Theory Young McCormick May Still Be on Face of Cliff, Push Through Underbrush.

(By Associated Press)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Searchers moved through the tangled underbrush at the base of North Sandia Peak today in a broadened hunt for Medill McCormick, Chicago publishing heir lost on a climbing expedition.

Virtually abandoning belief that the youth might be lodged on the steep face of the peak, the searchers prepared thoroughly to scour the brushy terrain below the ledge on which the body of his companion, Richard Whitmer, was found last Thursday.

Killed Seeking Help Belief.

They were working on the theory that young McCormick gained the foot of the peak's sheer face with little or no injury, but was killed, lost or severely hurt in the lower country while trying to reach help for his companion.

A party of skilled climbers set out into the more dangerous area immediately below the "shield" CCC enrollees, in parties of five, moved down through the lower canyons leading to the Rio Grande Valley.

Most of the mountain veterans who have scaled the cliff are convinced that young McCormick is not on it, although some still believed he might be there.

CLEVELAND TO TRY LOTTERIES TO FEED NEEDY

GOAL OF FIVE MILLION

Two Councilmen Seek Way to Get Around Federal, State Anti-Lottery Laws.

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND — The city of Cleveland will conduct a huge $5,000,000 lottery to raise relief funds—if a city council bloc, headed by Raymond J. Taylor and John M. Novak, has its way.

Council last night passed legislation, sponsored by the two councilmen, establishing a five-man "direct-relief" committee to work out plans for a fund-raising "show" in Public Hall or the lakefront stadium. Mayor Harld H. Burton signed the measure immediately.

Seek to Circumvent Law.

Taylor and Novak have been seeking a way to circumvent federal and state anti-lottery laws in order to conduct a city-operated lottery. If they are successful, they indicated, the "show" would take this form: Tickets, they said, would be sold for one dollar. On the night of the "show" a percentage of the receipts would be distributed to lucky ticket holders as cash door prizes whether or not the winner is present.

The committee, which includes Novak as chairman, Taylor, Harry T. Marshall, Harold T. Gassaway, and former Sheriff John M. Sulzmann, was to meet late today to draw up plans to set a date for the "show."

Council also passed legislation authorizing issuance of $337,000 in notes to raise relief funds. The state tax commission last week authorized the issue in anticipation of 1939 sales tax collections and local bankers have assured the city they will buy the issue.

Specifies Uses.

Other legislation specified the uses to which the funds will be put. Rent bills not to exceed a total of $100,000, of relief clients for May will be paid, approximately $38,000 pay for the first two weeks of June will be given relief staff employes, and most of the balance will be used to distribute food orders.

Mayor Burton said the food orders, to be distributed tomorrow, will be for 10 days or two weeks. These will be the first regular food orders to go out to the city's 60,000 relief clients since April 15.

Judge Gives Her Success Formula

BOLTON LANDING, N. Y. —(U P)—Federal Judge Florence E. Allen, of Cleveland, O., 1938 choice for the Chi Omega national achievement medal for women, today attributed her success to "hard work and friends."

Mrs Franklin D Roosevelt, presented the medal.

Judge Allen, only woman to be appointed to a federal court bench, spoke of increased professional opportunities for women in the United States and asserted that "this country belongs to women as never before in history."

ATTENDANCE AT PLAYLOTS HITS ALL-TIME HIGH

Opening Week Figure, 17,000, 3 Times Total for Same Period in 1937.

Opening week attendance at Mansfield playgrounds set a new all-time record for the grounds, and was more than three times the total for the first week of the 1937 season, the report of Al Fendrick, playground director, showed today.

Total attendance of the 15 playlots last week was 17,165, according to Fendrick. This is an increase of 11,585 over last year's opening week figure of $5,580.

The 1937 first week attendance was an increase of 20 per cent over 1936, and the 1936 figure was 12 per cent over 1935, Fendrick said.

Liberty Park Leads.

Liberty park, one of the six playlots to have supervised play for the first time this year reported an attendance of 4,217 for opening week, the largest of the 15 grounds. North Lake park, another new ground this year, had the second largest, 3,119.

Other ranking playlots in attendance were Johns park, 2,898; Prospect park, 2,464; Hedges school, 783; and West First street school, 719. In 1937 Prospect park had the largest opening week attendance with 1,470 children reporting.

Fendrick said the exceptionally large increase was due to the fact that six more playgrounds are being operated this year by the Municipal Recreation board, and that the playlots experienced good weather the first week. A growing interest in playground activities and a broader program also were factors in the big attendance, he said.

This year supervised play is being held on 15 playgrounds in all sections of the city, while nine grounds were in operation last year. Rain throughout most of opening week in 1937 was partly responsible for the low attendance.

Thirty supervisors are employed on the 15 grounds this year as compared with 14 last year on nine grounds.

INDICTMENTS ACCUSE SEVEN DAVEY AIDS

13 True Bills Returned, Charge Solicitation of Funds From Civil Service Workers.

ASHLANDER ONE OF SEVEN

Accused Official Describes Charges as 'Lot of Damn Nonsense.'

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Seven lieutenants of Gov. Martin L. Davey faced arrest today on indictments for soliciting or receiving campaign contributions from civil service workers and Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy pressed for early trial.

The attorney general, who has directed the investigation before a special grand jury, said he would seek to have Franklin county common pleas court call an extraordinary summer session to prevent the cases going over into fall months.

Court attaches said, however, it was unlikely that summer trials would be held, indicating the cases would not go to juries before the Aug. 9 primary campaign for which the Davey aids allegedly sought contributions illegally for a third-term war-chest.

Indictments Returned Monday.

A special Franklin county grand jury returned the indictments late yesterday to climax more than two months of investigation into reports that classified employes were solicited to create a campaign fund for Governor Davey's third-term race.

Those named were:

M. Ray Allison, finance director and a Davey cabinet member, two bills;

J. Freer Bittinger of Ashland, former speaker of the Ohio house of representatives and treasurer of Davey's campaign committee;

Thomas E. Dye of Urbana, assistant state purchasing agent and Democratic state chairman from 1924 to 1927, two bills;

Daniel S. Earhart, tax commission employe;

J. L. Kennedy, supervisor of the state house;

Frank W. Mowery, custodian of the state office building, three bills;

Charles O. Wilson, gasoline tax division examiner, three bills.

Davey Has No Comment.

Governor Davey and Allison both said at Cleveland they had

OUT OF RACE

Newark Man Withdraws, to Back Kallmerten for Post.

The field was left open today for E. B. Kallmerten, Mansfield, candidate for state Democratic central committeeman from the 17th district, when Joseph J. Dolan, of Newark, withdrew as a candidate.

Dolan has filed unexpectedly for the post after central committees in the six counties in the district endorsed Kallmerten, chairman of the Richland county Democratic executive committee.

Kallmerten said today that Dolan told him he had changed his mind about being a candidate.

"There was an understanding among Democratic leaders this time that the party's district chairman would come from Richland county," Kallmerten said. He added that the post is to be "handed around" with each of the six counties to be represented in order on the state committee.

Murder Added to Crimes of Outlaw Brothers In Illinois

(By Associated Press)

KANKAKEE, Ill.—The slaying of an Indiana state policeman was added today to a long list of crimes attributed to two brothers whose careers as outlaws ended in capture for one and death for the other.

The policeman, Ray Dixon, 28, died yesterday at La Porte, Ind., a few hours after Orelle G. Easton, 25, and his brother, Clarence, 27, were trapped on a farm near De Selm. The latter was slain by officers.

Dixon was shot without warning near La Porte Sunday night when he stopped to offer aid to the Easton brothers whose car was stalled.

Orelle, held in jail here, blamed his brother for the slaying. He said his brother "handled the guns" in a series of escapades which began when they left their Valley City, N. D., home June 9.

The brothers were accused of robberies, holdups, automobile thefts, shootings, and abductions. Two Indiana deputies, an Illinois farmer and his son were abducted in the Eastons' flight after the shooting of Dixon.

Norman Sallwasser, deputy prosecutor of La Porte county, said a grand jury indictment charging Easton with the slaying of Dixon would be sought immediately.

OFFICER NAMED

G. H. Drury to Fill Vacancy in Police Department.

The appointment of Gordon H Drury, 33, of 148 Wood street, to the police department for a probationary period of three months, was announced today by Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert.

Drury was selected from the list of three certifications sent Styert by the civil service commission. He will receive $110 per month and will assume his duties July 1. The appointment fills the vacancy created by the resignation of Harry Copper two weeks ago.

Styert said Drury was selected because of the almost perfect grade of 98.5 he had attained in the civil service examination. He added that the new patrolman was also a radio technician and would be an asset to the police department.

The two others considered for the post were William Colby, who had a grade of 91, and Tony Colace, whose grade was 89.5. Colace is one of the principal figures in the current NLRB hearing here.

Drury has lived in Mansfield for the past 12 years, is married and has one daughter.

Sutter pleaded guilty to the charge which was filed by Mrs. Pearl Hautzenroeder, Mansfield, investigator for the county welfare department. Sutter had failed to support his family and refused a job, relief officials said.

Proposal For New Courthouse Gains Support of 3 Groups

Support of a proposal for a new Richland county courthouse had been pledged today by three organizations, Atty. George W. Biddle who is heading the movement for the new county building, announced.

Two of the groups—the Richland County Bar association and the Mansfield Building Trades council—had appointed committees to study the proposal. The other group is the Delano lodge which added its approval with reservations.

Although officers of the lodge said their organization favored the courthouse plan, they indicated they would not continue to back it if there was a possibility it might interfere with the Mansfield board of education's $1,000,000 building program.

The lodge went on record as approving the school plan soon after it was proposed early last month.

The bar association's committee to study the courthouse plan is comprised of Biddle, Atty. L. H. Beam and Atty. William F. Black.

Members of the building trades council committee are Clinton Berry, B. M. Ferguson and Lloyd Lehman.

Biddle said the proposal for construction of a new courthouse would call for a PWA grant to be supplemented by county funds, the cost to be paid over a long period The project would cost approximately $200,000, he said.

Ousted Worker 'Troublesome', Ohio Brass Employes Assert

Two fellow employes testifying in the National Labor Relations board hearing of unfair labor practice charges against the Ohio Brass company, told Trial Examiner Albert L. Lohm today that Tony Colace, discharged workman seeking reinstatement, was a troublesome workman and frequently quarreled with his superiors.

They were the first witnesses called by the company to support its claim that Colace was not discharged for union activities at the plant but because of unsatisfactory service.

Max W. Johnstone, attorney for the labor board, completed the board's testimony a half hour after today's session of the hearing started. The hearing opened yesterday.

Luther Day of Cleveland, who with Thomas F. Veach, is attorney for the company, was overruled in a motion for dismissal of the charges immediately after Johnstone had announced completion of his case Day charged that the labor board testimony failed to show that Colace had been illegally discharged.

The company called Colace's two fellow workmen before the noon recess. They were Anton Stirtzinger, 375 Third avenue, and Louge DeGregoria, Johns avenue. Both worked in the same department with Colace.

Stirtzinger testified under di-

Careless Husband Irks Her

By VIRGINIA LEE

IT IS ONE of the paradoxes of life that the most undesirable husbands are not always those who beat their wives, are unfaithful to them, who get drunk, gamble, steal and do other things which make them undesirable citizens. Women often stick to such men through thick and thin. Forgive them time and again, wait for them at the doors of jails, refuse to testify against them when they have been beaten.

A man may seem to be a fairly good citizen and still be much harder to live with than one who does any or all of the things listed above. A woman writes of such a man, and she is so unhappy she wants to run away from him.

This woman knows what a good husband is because she had one, who died several years ago. After trying hard to make a living for herself and her children she married this man, whom she knew only slightly, thinking she could make a home for him and help him in his business and also keep her children with her.

The man is not interested in her children, however, and makes them feel very uncomfortable in his home. He is very dirty and untidy in his business and personally; worse, he works his wife hard and never gives her a kind word or shows any appreciation of anything she does.

This woman had never worked for her living before she married the first time, and it seemed a great undertaking, more than she was equal to, so when this man made his proposition, she thought she was doing the best thing for herself and her family.

There are so many things so much worse than loneliness and hard work, M., as you have found out. A woman who is a good worker like you, neat, thrifty and intelligent, can usually get some kind of work. You could even get a job in a business similar to that your husband is running, and make a success of it because you would not have the dirt and general discouragements of your husband's ways to contend with.

The best thing to do is to face life unafraid. I really think as you are so unhappy and your home is no real home for your children, that it would be best to acknowledge that you made a mistake in marrying this man and leave him. You can, I am sure, make a home for yourself and your boys. They will marry, in time, of course, but you can always make a place for yourself. If you stay, I am afraid your unhappiness will wreck your health.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

LYING TELLS TRUTH

Sometimes a false-card is not as deceptive as the natural play would be. The declarer may be able to read from the peculiar maneuver that something is wrong somewhere. One defender or the other is trying to fool him. If he can figure out that one had a possible good reason to try deception and the other could not, your craftiness may prove a boomerang.

Five-Clubs was the final contract by most pairs in a duplicate on this deal. Some were defeated one trick and others were successful in making the contract.

Where the West players opened a trump, there was no problem to the play. However, with the lead of the heart 2, which most West players chose, the situation simmers down to whether South, with sure losers of the spade A and diamond A, should play for the break in trumps or finesse. The majority decided in favor of the break and were set one.

At one table, East in his endeavor to fool the declarer, played the 7 on the first lead of trumps. South, not seeing the 5, figured East could have a reason to false-card whereas West could not, so decided to finesse. This enabled him to make five-odd.

After two diamond tricks have been cashed against South's 3-No Trumps contract and he wins the third round, how should he plan the balance of the hand?

THEATER

SAM GOLDWYN, producer of two million dollar epics, is now launched, rather surprisingly, on making a Western. Not just an ordinary "horse opera" but a big production with a big cast. "The Lady and The Cowboy," with Merle Oberon as a senator's daughter masquerading as camp cook, and Gary Cooper as a cowhand, is being hailed by that horde of film gentry, the cowboy actors, as mana from Heaven. It is a bonanza for all Western types, and there are a lot of them in Hollywood now, looking for work since Col. Tim McCoy's circus folded in Washington state after several weeks. It has been a bad year for circuses and rodeos, what with bad weather and labor troubles, and on these many of the cowboy types depend for work in the summer. The Goldwyn picture will be along "epical" lines.

Plays Dramatic Role.

Shirley Ross, who found herself up a couple of rungs on the Hollywood ladder after singing "Thanks For the Memories" with Bop Hope in "Big Broadcast of 1938" has a straight dramatic role in "Prison Farm," which will be presented at the Madison Wednesday and Thursday. She plays a young girl who runs afoul of the law through her love for the wrong man. As the title suggests much of the action takes place at a prison farm where the two are subjected to all sorts of brutal treatment. Lloyd Nolan is seen in the role of a hold-up man and all-round easy money man, who implicates the girl; John Howard is the young prison doctor who offers the only sanctuary to the girl.

High Bracket Star.

Katharine Hepburn, one of the higher bracket stars in Hollywood whose latest picture, "Holiday" is current at the Ohio, is one of the few stars who has never appeared in any but important pictures. Whether the productions were important to begin with or whether her presence made them so, is a matter of opinion. Her greatest picture was "Little Woman" and next in importance was "Bill of Divorcement," the first one she made. There followed "Alice Adams," "Morning Glory," "Mary of Scotland," "Break of Hearts" and "Stage Door." Hepburn has never been popular with the writing lads because of what they termed her "high-hat" attitude, but she is generally recognized as one of the best actresses. In her present picture she is co-starred with Cary Grant.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

There was such genuine bewilderment in my young son's voice as he asked me just what I wanted Roderick and himself to do, that I flayed myself again for my tactlessness in bringing to their minds the image of their grandmother counting her hours with her son because she feared she might not have many more of them.

It is not the first time I have realized how vivid are the imaginations of children, how poignant their fears. I should have known better, I told myself angrily, than to implant a fear of their grandmother's possible death in their hearts, no matter how hurried I was for time, nor how unwittingly I had spoken.

Act As Usual.

"There is only one thing to do," I told them at last. "Act just as you have been doing. I was proud of you in the library. I knew how anxious you both were to talk, but you never interrupted Granzie once."

"I guess you know what would have happened to us if we had," Roderick said darkly, and I caught back an involuntary smile just in time. This was no time for mirth, I told myself sternly.

"You would have been punished, of course," I said quickly. "But I am sure you were not thinking of that. You were just being good boys, naturally, and I was very glad."

"It's still daylight saving, you know," I went on rapidly, anxious to get as far afield from the topic of their grandmother as I could. "That means there'll be plenty of time after dinner for Dad to play with you outside."

"Do you think we ought to?" Junior asked doubtfully.

Boys Relieved.

"Do you think I would tell you to do anything you ought not to do?" I countered gravely, and was rewarded by seeing the light of joyous relief spring into each pair of eyes.

"That's right, old top," Roderick turned to Junior, striking his fist into his palm in a ludicrous imitation of Harry Underwood. "I kin see what Auntie Madge means. She wants us just to keep quiet and watch our chance to get out with Uncle Dickie when Granzie's looking over a magazine, the way she always does after dinner."

Keep It Secret.

"That's just what I mean," I told them. "And now we must plan to keep this little talk a secret. Granzie mustn't know you were asking about her. Suppose you think up something else to ask me. Then, if anybody asks me why you called me in, I will have an answer ready."

Their eyes had a sudden knowing look as they returned my gaze, and another wave of self-condemnation swept over me. Was I teaching them evasion and deceit, I asked myself. I answered my own question in the affirmative, even as I assured myself that I could not have taken any other course.

"I'll tell you what," Junior said. "We'll ask you what everybody'd like for Christmas. We were going to ask you that anyway, pretty soon," he amended, "for if we make things, or buy things with our allowances, we'll have to begin planning pretty soon. Don't you think that's a good idea?"

Rod Disrespectful.

"A very good one," I returned. "And I'll answer that question by telling you that just as soon as I can I'll give you a list of what we all would like—several things for each person in the house. Then you can choose one from each list."

"That's fine," they said in unison, and then I saw a speculative look come into Roderick's eyes.

"That ought to hold Granzie for a while," he said, "if you tell her we wanted to ask you about Christmas."

Again a wave of distaste for the compulsory role I was playing went over me. But before I could answer Roderick with a reproof for the disrespectful way in which he had referred to his grandmother, her unmistakable knock sounded upon the door and the next instant she had flung it open and advanced into the room, her eyebrows knitted into a frown.

Could it be possible that she had overheard what we had been saying?

Runyon Wrote Story.

Damon Runyon, famous sports columnist and writer, who has given the screen some of its best stories, authored "Little Miss Marker," the picture that introduced Shirley Temple to her fans. It is story of race track folks; of Sorrowful Jones, Big Steve and Bangles, who find themselves in possession of a curley-headed little girl—a gal who insists that all of the race track shysters are knights from King Arthur's Round Table. Adolphe Menjou plays Sorrowful; Charles Bickford is Big Steve, and the late Dorothy Dell, who was killed in an auto accident a couple of years ago, plays Bangles. The Majestic offers this film and "Texas Rangers," a Fred MacMurray-Jean Parker picture.

Gold Inspires Fight.

One of the most exciting and interesting pictures of the year is "Gold Is Where You Find It," a drama of the days in California when the hydraulic miners waged a bitter fight with the wheat farmers. The Ritz presents this picture Wednesday and Thursday. It was made in Technicolor with George Brent, Olivia de Havilland, Claude Rains, Margaret Lindsay, John Litel and Barton McLane. Young Tim Holt, son of Jack Holt, makes his first important appearance in this as the younger brother of a fighting clan of wheat growers. The climax comes in the fight between the two factions and the dynamiting of the big dam.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, June 29.

A very likely day is presaged from the ruling astral operation, although such enterprise may be directed toward the breaking down of old obstacles, crystallizations and postponements. Change or travel may prove beneficial, although strange contacts may hold certain elements of hazard or disagreeable friction. However, well-laid plans and personal restraint should result in definite progress despite tenacious obstructions.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very lively and interesting year, with much stirring in the way of breaking up old and stubborn congestions of a disappointing and exasperating nature. Well-directed effort and restraint from strife and nervous manifestations may result in achievement, although there is need for precaution with strangers and unfamiliar contacts.

A child born on this day may have a lively, restless and high-strung temperament. It may be difficult to understand and to handle, owing to certain conflicts in its inner nature. By inculcating sound and wholesome principles with kindliness and consideration, it may be given a more optimistic outlook on life.

You cannot expect to grow good asters if you plant them year after year in the same spot. The ground becomes filled with root lice, which ruin the plants, often to the mystification of the owner. Asters should have new ground each year when the plants are set out. Asters grown from seed at home thrive just as well as those bought in the market, but the seed should be sown in boxes indoors. Indeed, it is wise to make several sowings at intervals in order to keep plants coming along all through the summer.

Use scissors to remove seeds and pulp from green peppers when they are being prepared for stuffing.

HEART ON HER SLEEVE

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY

(Copyright, 1938)

CHAPTER VI.

His better judgment told him that Moleen should have a real job and live within her income. But it did seem a little cruel to spoil her holiday, however short. Too much like taking candy from a baby!

Back at the table, Moleen and Jed met a group of Mignon's friends who were clamoring to meet the man with the wonderful baritone voice. Moleen was surprised, and delighted when Mignon introduced her as an old friend of the family.

She put on her prettiest smiles and her best manner, and no one would have suspected she was the daughter of a stevedore and a woman who went out to work by the day.

Sunny Tucker, watching her amusedly, was fascinated with the glow of excitement in the deep Irish blue eyes, and the gay smile that played around her small mouth and brought out a dimple in her right cheek.

Sunny decided he'd have to know her better. Mignon wouldn't mind he was sure, if he asked her to lunch and took her around a bit to see New York. Minnie was like that. Beside, there was really nothing romantic in their association.

True, he had played with the idea of asking Mignon to marry him because she was the most charmingly sincere girl he had ever known. And he knew how deeply she would love, and what a wonderful wife and mother she would make. For five years he had tried desperately to fall really in love with her.

But there was just that little necessary spark lacking. Sunny thought himself a romantic idiot to let that stand in his way when he could have a wife like Mignon. With her dowry, they could buy back his old family home in Southhampton and establish a solid sensible future.

Sunny, after a time, went back to direct his orchestra and Mignon and Jed got up to dance, Moleen, having a grand time picking out faces in the crowd she had seen in the newspapers, started suddenly and her hand went to her mouth in a gesture of astonishment.

Leaning against a pillar a few feet away was Charlie Farro, whom she had known all her life. For several minutes he had been trying to catch her eye.

Moleen stiffened and felt her heart go down into her shoes. Smiling easily, the handsome Farro motioned for her to meet him outside.

Moleen felt like Cinderella must have felt when 12 o'clock came and her fine raiment turned to rags. As though it had all been a beautiful dream, and must now come to an end.

There was, she knew, only one sensible thing to do. Go out and face Charlie Farro and throw herself on his mercy. Ever since she could remember she had feared and despised him.

Even before his father made a fortune in wine and Charlie went away to college and came back polished like a pewter dollar and so handsome most of the girls would have let him walk over them, she disliked him. Partly because he had always tried to annoy her with his attentions. Mostly because she knew, for some reason she had never been able to figure out, her young brother Pat had feared him, and that Farro, in spite of this, had an evil influence over him.

Shivering a little, Moleen got up and glancing quickly about to make sure Jed and Mignon had not noticed her, hurried out the door and down the walk. Farro stepped smiling from the shrubbery.

"Fancy meeting you here, Mollie!" He smiled with keenest amusement. "And looking like a million bucks! Come over and sit down on this bench and give me the low-down. Heve you found a millionaire?"

British Demand Showdown as Ship Bombings Continue

FEAR FRANCO CAN'T CONTROL PLANE ATTACKS

Observers Puzzled by Attitude of Mussolini, Believe He Approves Campaign.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(U.P.)—The British government took issue today with charges by Generalissimo Francisco Franco that British ships are trading with Loyalist Spain in violation of the non-intervention agreement.

(By United Press)

LONDON — Bewilderment spread in Great Britain today as the crash of Spanish nationalist bombs on the decks of British merchantment provided emphatic denial of reports that the bombing campaign would be halted.

There was a growing feeling in conservative quarters that there must soon be a show down in which the government either would yield to pressure for strong action against the attacks or would admit that the policy of conciliation which resulted in a British-Italian friendship treaty was not succeeding.

Speculate on Duce's Attitude.

In well informed circles there was a disposition to believe that continuance of the nationalist bombing campaign meant that Spanish nationalist authorities might not be able to stop it.

This led to the deduction in anti-nationalist quarters that Premier Benito Mussolini approved the campaign.

It was the co-operation between Italy and the nationalists which provided the chief puzzle. The Italian government has shown every sign of eagerness to put the friendship treaty with Britain in full effect.

Information is that the raids are most unlikely to stop the traffic which British ships are maintaining to loyalist ports. It is asserted that more than 100 British merchantment are engaged in regular trade with loyalist ports and that they intend to continue because of the high profits, despite any danger.

May Put Question Again.

It was regarded as possible, in view of the confusing nature of the bombing problem, that the government might ask Italy to reaffirm its assertion that it has no territorial aims in Spain.

A Daily Mail dispatch from Barcelona asserted today that the British steamship Arlon, bombed at Valencia yesterday, was the only ship in the harbor flying the British flag—and was the only one attacked.

Fireworks Arrive For City's July 4th Celebration

Plans for Mansfield's Fourth of July celebration at the county fairground moved forward today as a truck load of fireworks arrived and units of the historical cavalcade which precedes the fireworks began rehearsals.

Roy Vaughn, president of the Mansfield City Parks association, which is sponsoring the celebration, said today that representatives of the Ohio Fireworks company would begin in a few days to build the 50 set pieces of fireworks which will be set off during the night display. He added that although the ways and means commitee, headed by Walter Underwood, is still working on raising funds for the celebration, the association is confident the goal of $1,200 will be reached.

Among the ground pieces which will be constructed at the fairground are the replicas of the old Mansfield blockhouse, the Doughboy monument that stands in Central park, Niagara Falls, bicycle riders and other figures.

A general rehearsal of the cavalcade of American history, which will be told in song, music and drama, will be held at the fairground Thursday night under the direction of J. Gilbert Baird. About 200 persons will take part in the program.

Washington Eyes Two Mid-West Contests

Up and Down THE STREET

A quartet of Mansfield teachers and courthouse secretaries, who were home today from a week's motor trip to Quebec, Canada, found an opportunity to try out their French, but they doubted if they made as good use of it as the Quebec youngsters made of the two English words they knew. Miss Leota Pittenger, one of the members of the party of tourists, said their car was besieged at every turn in Quebec's narrow streets with the plea: "Penny, madame?" The youthful beggars knew few English words but they were profitable ones, Miss Pittenger said.

If you are one of those persons who don't believe in a "sea of humanity," just take Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Last Friday the official count at the pool, according to Styert, was 647 youngsters—and all in the water at one time.

A number of Mansfield members plan to go to the convention today and tomorrow.

E. B. Kallmerten, Richland county Democratic chief, has a novel "alarm clock" that doesn't fail—and that's just the trouble with it, he says. Kallmerten, who lives across Brinkerhoff avenue from South park, has made pets of squirrels in the park by feeding them every morning. And now, the little animals have become so accustomed to getting their breakfast they won't let him sleep late on Sundays and holidays. "They climb the screens and make so much noise on the roof that we have to get up and feed them before they will go back to the park," the Democratic leader said.

MARKS TIME IN SCHOOL FIGHT

County Board Awaits Return of Marriott to Rule on PWA Application Row.

With Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott still out of the city on vacation, the county board of education marked time today in its proposed investigation of charges of irregularities against Boyd Robinson, county superintendent of schools.

The county board took action Saturday to investigate charges that Robinson had usurped the authorities of the Union rural (Weller and Franklin townships) board in applying for a PWA grant for a new high school in the Union district.

The county board's resolution calls for a ruling from the prosecutor on the legality of Robinson's action which caused members of the Union and the county boards to ask for his resignation.

Both boards contended they had not authorized construction of a new high school building or a request for a federal grant. Robinson denied the charge, asserting that Charles W. Marre, New Philadelphia architect, who drew plans for the proposed building, had filled out the application for a $96,000 grant and submitted it to state PWA officials. Robinson admitted signing the blank.

With the county board divided in the wrangle, J. W. Snook, R. D. 4, Mansfield, member of the board, said today that he was "backing no one."

"All I want is a fair investigation of the charges in this case," Snook said. He denied he was backing either faction.

CHANTS 'IT'S MEAN OLD WORLD' AS HE GOES TO DEATH IN CHAIR

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Chanting "this is a mean old world to live in," Thomas B. Williams 20-year-old colored youth, went to his death last night in Ohio penitentiary's electric chair for the murder of an aged Steubenville synagogue caretaker.

"This is a mean old world to live in and try to stay in 'till you die," Williams sang in a flat baritone voice before guards threw switches controlling the new automatic voltage device.

Williams, convicted of slaying R. I. Mirvis with a stove poker last September, walked into the death chamber with no display of emotion.

Williams glanced briefly at Warden J. C. Woodard. Then, facing a small group of witnesses, he said:

"I'm sitting in this chair for a crime I did not commit. My own sister told the officers I killed Reuben Mirvis. She knew I didn't. The confession was beaten out of me."

Harold Wellington, Jefferson county deputy sheriff, said Williams struck Mirvis over the head repeatedly with a poker and robbed him of approximately $10. He later confessed to the crime, Wellington said.

Starting slowly with his protestation of innocence, Williams spoke for nearly 15 minutes. Then, with the asistance of Rev. K. E. Wall, prison chaplain, he read passages from the 14th chapter of St John. He quoted the 23rd Psalm from memory.

With a half smile he turned to Warden Woodard

"I would like to sing a song for you," he said.

"Lead Me On" and "This is a Mean Old World to Live In" were his offerings.

Automatic controls applied electricity at 9:03. He was pronounced dead two minutes later by Dr. George W. Keil, prison physician.

ESCAPE O. S. R.

2 Trusties Flee from Painting Crew; 'Outside Help' Seen.

Two Mansfield reformatory inmates believed to have been helped by a paroled inmate in staging a successful escape yesterday afternoon were being hunted today by police throughout Ohio.

Superintendent Arthur L. Glattke said the inmates, both trusties on the prison farm, left a painting crew and fled toward state route 13, less than a block away. Both were from Franklin county.

Posses of guards found no trace of the fugitives after searching for several hours and this led authorities to believe that "outside help" aided the pair to escape in a machine as soon as they reached the highway.

Glattke said the fugitives were Fred Reed, 23, and George Denny, 20. Reed was received at the reformatory Dec. 9, 1935, and was under sentence from 10 to 25 years for robbery. Denny was serving a one to 15 year sentence for burglary and grand larceny. He was received at the institution last Jan. 21.

DECISIONS DUE IN MINNESOTA AND INDIANA

Nye-Langer Contest for GOP Senate Nomination Holds Interest of New Deal.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Two midwestern senatorial contests aroused interest in the capital today because of their potential bearing on President Roosevelt's appeal for clear-cut liberal-conservative battles.

One was in North Dakota, where Sen. Gerald P. Nye—frequently a Roosevelt supporter—was opposed today in the Republican primary by Gov. William Langer.

Indiana G. O. P. Caucuses.

The other is in Indiana, where Republican delegates to a state convention will caucus tonight before selecting their senatorial candidate tomorrow. The question of national interest was whether the convention would take any stand on the independent candidacy of Sen. Frederick Van Nuys, anti-administration Democrat.

The president and his immediate advisers have taken no public part in the Nye-Langer contest, which is outside their own party. A factor indicating they might have more than a passing concern in the outcome, however, was Nye's endorsement by two ardent New Dealers—Senators Bone (D-Wash) and Norris (Ind-Neb).

Their advocacy of their colleague's renomination preceded by a few weeks Mr. Roosevelt's request last Friday that voters of all parties consider the liberalism of men for whom they vote.

Dems Meet Next Month.

The Indiana senatorial battle apparently will find two candidates labeled conservatives fighting a Democrat friendly to the national administration. The latter will be chosen next month at a state convention, dominated by the party organization unfriendly to Van Nuys.

Some Republicans have proposed that their own convention endorse Van Nuys because of his opposition to the court bill and other Roosevelt legislation.

That movement, however, has not gathered much headway, and the convention is expected to choose among five other candidates, one of whom is former Sen. James E. Watson. Van Nuys will run as an independent and hopes to obtain supports from individual Republicans as well as from dissident Democrats.

APPOINTS NURSE

Health Chief Names Wooster Woman in Filling Vacancy.

Acting on recommendations from the state department of health, Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, today announced the appointment of Miss Rachel Mitchell, 36, of Wooster, as nurse in the public health department to fill the vacancy created May 26 by the death of Miss Helen Hayden.

Miss Mitchell will assume her new duties July 1 at which time two transfers in the department will become effective, Dr. Rehder said. Miss Mitchell, who is employed by the state, will fill the position of county nurse now held by Miss Genieve Diesem who will be moved to the city staff to replace Miss Sibyl Scott. The latter's transfer to the city pavroll to fill the vacancy left by Miss Hayden was approved by the Mansfield board of health at its meeting June 13. The new nurse will receive $125 a month.

Miss Mitchell comes to Mansfield with 11 years' experience in nursing. She was graduated from Fairview Park hospital, Cleveland, in 1927, after attending Wooster college. She spent nearly five years in India where she had charge of the women's department of a general hospital. For the past year and a half she has been employed by the Delaware county board of health.

GEN. JOHNSON:

President Hits Appeals To Prejudice and Then Resorts to Same Tactics

—By HUGH S. JOHNSON

BETHANY BEACH, Del.—It was a fireside, but not where the family is comforted—just where the barbecue begins. The president's "chat" was a roasting.

He deplored political speeches that use "mean blows," i. e., "misrepresentation, personal attack and appeals to prejudice."

No, sir. No appeal to prejudice by any "calamity-howling executive with an income of $1 000 a day who has been turning his employes over to the government relief rolls in order to preserve his company's undistributed reserves"—and stealing the stockholders' stamps.

There is no American executive with $1,000 a day after income tax. There is no company rich enough in reserve to continue employment when sales stop. This wasn't argument. It was a petty, personable, rabble-rousing attack on an individual.

* * *

The president wants no misrepresentation by opponents—disciples of "defeatism"—who have consistently refused to co-operate with "the mass of people, whether things were going well or going badly, on the ground that they required more concessions to their point of view before they would admit having what they called 'confidence.'"

The group in the Democratic party who do not always agree with everything the president proposes, and who he is going to oppose in the primaries, he calls "conservatives," who think that "we ought to repeal many of the things we have done and go back, for instance, to the old gold standard, or stop all this business of old-age pension and unemployment insurance, or repeal the Securities and Exchange act, or let monopolies thrive unchecked."

These, the president tells the people, are "conservatives" as opposed to "liberals." If that isn't political misrepresentation, what is it?

* * *

If congressmen don't rubber-stamp whatever Tommy Corcoran proposes, they are "conservatives" who refuse "to co-operate with the mass of the people." Calling Mr. Corcoran—or even Mr. Roosevelt—the "mass of the people" is worse than the seven tailors of Tooly street who called themselves "We, the people of England."

"Nor am I, as President of the United States, taking part in Democratic primaries. As head of the Democratic party, however... I have every right to speak." How can a man step out of his skin as president and do things as a party leader that would be wrong as president?

* * *

Why should the president not speak? Ordinarily there is no reason in morality. But now, since he is the sole dispenser of billions to states and congressional districts, and holds in his hands the very livings of millions, there is every reason of democracy, decorum and decency. It is a kind of coercion.

It is too bad. Necessary co-operation was coming fast. This administration won't accept co-operation that doesn't come kicked, cuffed and crawling. It wants to fight it out on a pure demagogic basis of class war—just like Karl Marx and Joe Stalin. This working up of dither and lather is a sort of Sioux sun dance—to incite the tribes to slaughter.

Hollywood Speaks---

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A newsreel cameraman's life nas more than its share of hazards. So has the life of an actor playing a newsreeler. And a star, remember, is supposed to be "protected" as a valuable studio property.

Clark Gable's record of injuries on "Too Hot to Handle" sounds like a plug for the picture's title:

First week—being thrown into a mudpuddle during an air raid on ruined Shanghai (back lot), Gable forgot to close his eyes. "Here's mud in your eye," when demonstrated, is no fun.

* * *

Second week—Gable and Myrna Loy worked continuously in "fog" and "wind" for night sequences. Result for Gable: three days abed with influenza.

Third week—Rescuing Loy from crashed airplane (supposed to flame with controlled fire) Gable—and Loy—got scorched because the wind blew the fire out of control, and the plane actually caught fire before they could escape.

Fourth week—Making a "newsreel shot" on an ambulance top, Gable burned his nose by pressing it too close to an exposed revolving motor. (He'll know better next time.)

Fifth week—Nothing very much happened, unless you count a thumb torn on barbed wire, and (in extracurricular activity) a fall from a horse at Leo Carillo's round-up and a finger sprained in calf-roping.

Latest bulletin—Gable's ankles lashed by a broken wire cable intended to pull an airplane into closeup position.

* * *

But the one Gable tells about is what happened to his favorite sports coat. He was wearing it in a scene when Jack Conway, the director, had an idea. Gable, thought Conway, looked too immaculate after a long flight through perilous skies, and ought to be dirtied up a bit. So the prop-man sprayed him prettily with motor oil. That was when Gable began laughing.

"The joke," he told Conway, "is on the wardrobe department."

Because it's up to "wardrobe" to replace an actor's personal garments damaged in film use—and that coat cost $110.

Mrs. Felumena Abdo has a movie contract—to supervise Arabian cooking for the movie "Suez." For Tyrone Power and Annabella, Mrs. Abdo will see that there is plenty of dahood pasha, sfeeha, and baba ganooj. All three dishes are old Arabian culinary customs. The first consists of Arabian egg-plant with nuts, rice and lamb. The second is unleavened bread garnished with spices. Baba ganooj is paprika-covered eggplant, roasted.

Speaking, as we were, of the perils of movie-acting!

Ready to Give Up 'Sit-Down' Strike To Win a Husband

IRVINGON, N. Y.—Ms. Hedi Heusser, pretty red-haired divorcee, said she would end today here "love strike" in the home of Rollo K. Blanchard, 50, wealthy water meter manufacturer.

Mrs. Heusser, mother of two children, entered the home a week ago, saying she would not leave until Blanchard married her. Blanchard promptly moved his two children and servants to his yacht in the Hudson river.

Tiring of her long vigil last night, Mrs. Heusser announced her new plans from an upper bedroom window to her attorney, Mortimer D. O'Brien, who stood outside in the rain.

Blanchard denied Mrs. Heusser's contention he had proposed marriage to her two weeks ago. He said he would not marry her but would "continue to be the hospitable host to an unwelcome guest.

Feller, Tribe Beat Sox to Increase Lead.

CLEVELAND—(UP)—Bob Feller, the husky youngster who skyrocketed from an Iowa farm to a place among the diamond's celebrities through the medium of a blazing fast ball, again today had demonstrated his greatness by turning in his ninth triumph of the season.

Feller, giving one of his best performances of the year, hurled the Cleveland Indians to a 7 to 3 victory over the Boston Red Sox yesterday. The win enabled the Tribe to increase its league lead to four full games over the idle New York Yankees.

Feller Fans 10.

Feller had his fast ball literally smoking yesterday and he sent 10 of the Red Sox batsmen down on strikes. The performance increased the schoolboy's strikeout total for the season to 85, a mark that is topped by only one other American hurler, "Buck" Newsom of the St. Louis Browns.

The 19-year-old right-hander struck out at least one man in every inning but the seventh. He got the dangerous "Pinky" Higgins, who recently set an American league record by slamming out 12 consecutive hits, Gene Desautels and "Lefty" Grove twice each. Jimmy Foxx, Joe Cronin, Ben Chapman and Pinch Hitter Leon Nonnenkamp were fanned once.

Feller was still wild in spots, but not wild enough to ruin a great pitching performance. He passed four men in the first three innings and then went until the eighth before he walked another. His total was seven.

Takes Early Lead.

Boston combined two walks and a single for a run in the first inning, but the lead was shortlived as the Indians scored twice in the third to go in front and never be headed.

The Indians added single counters in the fifth and sixth, pushed across two runs in the seventh and their final one in the eighth.

Boston's second run was made in the fifth and its final counter in the eighth.

Cleveland pounded the veteran Grove and Fritz Ostermueller for a total of 15 hits. Leading the parade was Rollie Hemsley, the Tribe's great catcher, who had a perfect day at the plate with four hits. Ken Keltner and Feller were the only Indians who did not hit safely.

The Indians were to open a series here today with Detroit. Johnny Allen and Tommy Bridges were to be the opposing pitchers.

DeLuxe Cabs Hop Into Lead In 'A' League

Defeat Richland Printers, 4 to 1, to Take Two-Point Advantage.

GOLF representatives of the DeLuxe Cab company turned in a neat performance at Possum Run yesterday to jump into sole possession of first place in the nip-and-tuck News-Journal Class A golf league race.

The Cabmen, who before Monday's matches were tied for second place with the Richland Printers, two points behind the pace setting Goldsmith Clothiers, hit their stride to humble the Printers, 4-1, and take a two-point lead over their nearest rivals.

Yunckers Help Cause.

The leaders' cause was helped along in nice fashion by the Yuncker Sports who took the Goldsmith outfit into camp by a 3 to 0 count. The defeat dropped the Clothiers into third place, a point back of the Printers. One match in the Goldsmith-Yuncker affair was postponed leaving two points in doubt.

In the other match the Matthes Clothiers walloped the Big Three Beers, 4 to 1.

Although they failed to break 40, the Cabs played consistently to take the three matches and team total from the Printers. Deley paced the winners with a 40, while Vin Malaska and Chuck Snyder scored 43's and Dillon finished with a 44. Pete Linster, the Printer's No. 1 man, saved his club from a whitewashing by cracking out a 41 to beat Malaska.

Linster Cards 37.

Nick Linster, who carded a sparkling 37 to win individual medal honors, led the Sportsmen to their easy triumph over the Beers. Pete Zeides shot a 38 to pace the Beers, but had the misfortune to tangle with Linster. Linster's mark, chalked up on the outside nine, was two over par. Dr. D. M. Leuthner with a 45 and Wayne Anthony with 41 accounted for the other matches.

With Carl Kushin and Bud Stirtzinger setting the pace with a pair of 40's, the Matthes Clothiers encountered trouble before turning back the Big Three foursome. Kushin annexed his match, but Stirtzinger tangled with Paul Jesson who pounded out a 39.

Extra Hole Matches.

Three matches were forced into extra holes last night. Anthony beat Vild on two extras, Kushin downed Frank Cipris on the 12th and Dillon topped Frantz after playing three extra holes.

Johns, North Park Chalk Up Victories

Fullager Holds Liberty to Three Hits to Win, 8-2; North Edges Prospect, 5-3.

IF JOHNS PARK continues to dominate play in the City softball league it will be a tough problem to keep the club from annexing the first round championship.

Yesterday the undefeated Johnnies, behind the brilliant three-hit pitching of Jimmy Fullager, coupled with a batting attack which included four home runs, defeated Liberty park, 8 to 2, at Johns park for their fourth straight triumph of the season.

The impressive victory enabled Johns to retain its one-game lead in the title race. It was the club's second consecutive win over Liberty.

With Fullager hurling hitless ball the first six innings, the Johnnies went to work on Joe Wentz and in the fourth inning had piled up a 4 to 0 lead.

The four-run advantage proved to be a large margin as Fullager, pitching one of the best games of the season, had the Liberty park representatives swinging fruitlessly. The Johns park ace struck out 11 while only giving up two walks.

After breezing through six innings without giving up a hit, Fullager ran into a little trouble in the seventh, but he tightened in the "clutches" to hold the threatening Liberty outfit at bay.

Ike Fetter struck at one of Fullager's pitches in that inning and hit a slow roller to shortstop which he beat out for a single. Fullager also gave up a run in the eighth, but stopped the losers cold the rest of the way.

Bob Bride, Hunt, and Fullager were the big guns in the Johnnies 12-hit attack. Bride socked out a pair of circuit blows, while Hunt and Fullager each added one. Bride collected his round trip tickets in the third and seventh innings. Hunt secured his in the first inning and Fullager added his the next round.

Although they iced the affair in the first four innings, the Johns park club added another in the sixth and then drove Wentz from the mound with a three-run uprising in the seventh.

First Lutherans Retain Lead

The undefeated First Lutheran softball aggregation continued its winning ways in the Y. M. C. A. Church league last night by handing United Brethren a 13 to 5 drubbing at Liberty park.

The Lutherans broke lose with a seven-run uprising in the first frame to take a lead that was never threatened. Although Wolfe gave the United Brethren outfit 11 hits, he tightened in clutches to keep out in front all the way. Stone, Young, LeMunyon and Sandel collected two hits apiece to pace the Lutherans' 13-hit attack. Brickley and Haycock secured two bingles each for the losers.

St. Mark's outfit smothered Park Avenue Baptist, 10 to 4, at Prospect park in the other game. Baptist copped a 2 to 0 lead in the initial chapter, but the winners tallied twice in the second to knot the score and then went ahead to stay with two more in the third. Pastor pounded out a double and a home run to top the winner's attack.

Western Track Stars Defeat Big Ten Club

CHICAGO—(INS)—Winner of 12 out of 16 events in their big meet, the Pacific coast today was well established as the superior of the Big Ten in the track and field world.

Before 10,000 persons at Northwestern university's Dyche stadium at Evanston last night, athletes from the west coast piled up a total of 101 points as against only 35 for representatives of the Western conference.

Arnold Nutting of California and Charles Fenske of Wisconsin were the stars of the night. Nutting won the 100-yard dash and the broad jump and Fenske took the half mile and the mile.

In the mile, Fenske handed Louis Zamperini of Southern California, the national collegiate champion, his first defeat at that distance since he began running in high school. Fenske's time over the heavy track was 4:20.9, probably the slowest mile he or Zamperini has run this year.

Dave Albritton won the high jump with a leap of 6 feet, 6⅝ inches, one inch higher than the effort of Bob Law of California, who finished second.

Aces Win On Jocka's Homer

A home run by Jocka in the last of the ninth with the score deadlocked at 9-all, enabled the Mansfield Aces girls' softball team to defeat the Harris Paints of Ashland, 10 to 9, at League park yesterday. The Mansfield club secured 17 hits off Clark, but were unable to bunch them. Donna Schuster set the invaders down with 12. Schuster and Jocka each collected three hits for the Aces. Brubaker banged out three for the losers.

Four Clubs Share Junior Loop Lead

The Pirates and Bees tallied their second straight triumphs to go into a tie with the Reds and Cubs for the loop lead.

Although they secured only two hits off Butterfield, the Pirates pushed across five runs in the opening inning to down the Cards, 5 to 3. The losers also collected two hits, but only denied the plate three times, all in the opening inning.

The Phillies and Bees staged a free-scoring affair, with the Bees staging a seven-run rally in the third inning to ice the game. The Phillies, by virtue of a six-run splurge in the first of the third, were leading 11 to 6 when the Bees put on their game-winning rally. Broiler was credited with a home run, paced the winners with three hits.

The Senators defeated the Tigers, 7 to 6, Monday to mark up their second straight victory and climb into a tie for first place with the Athletics in the Intermediate league.

Scoring all their runs in the third, the Senators staved off a Tiger rally in the last two innings to take the decision. Winkler was on the mound for the winners and set the Tigers down with two hits. Grassel led the winner's with a pair of singles.

In the other tilt the Yanks trounced the Browns, 10 to 1, behind the one-hit pitching of McCambridge. The Browns grabbed a 1 to 0 lead in the opening inning, but the Yanks came right back with four tallies in the second to take a lead they never relinquished. The win enabled the Yanks to climb into third place.

Giants Tackle Weak Easterners

NEW YORK — (UP) — Major league clubs abandoned intersectional strife today and opened battles with clubs from their own territory.

The change was welcomed more by Bill Terry of the New York Giants than any other manager in the two circuits.

Terry, whose Giants have found the teams from the western half of the National league extremely tough, now is faced with an opportunity to increase his league lead while meeting weak eastern foes.

The Giants have maintained their place in front of the National league by their ability to hammer Philadelphia, Brooklyn, and Boston down with consistency.

The Giants tackled the Phillies today, while the second place Cincinnati Reds were at Pittsburgh, and the third place Cubs entertained the St. Louis Cardinals. Boston was at Brooklyn.

In the American league the pace-setting Cleveland Indians took on the dangerous Detroit Tigers; second place New York engaged in a double header with the troublesome Philadelphia Athletics; Chicago was at St. Louis, and Washington at Boston.

Only two games were played in the majors yesterday. Both were in the American league. In them Cleveland stretched its lead to four full games by beating the Boston Red Sox 7 to 3; and the Chicago White Sox thumped St Louis 9 to 4.

STOCKS RESUME ADVANCE AFTER SLOW OPENING

General List Maintains Firm Undertone; Steels, Motors Among Pace-Makers.

NEW YORK—The advance in stocks was resumed today, although trading slackened appreciably and gains were of modest proportions.

The market was easier at the opening, as profit-taking was carried over from yesterday, when the spectacular runup in stock values was halted after six straight advances. An almost immediate rally, however, wiped out fractional declines and brought gains running to 2 points.

Later in the forenoon, best prices were shaded somewhat but the general list maintained a firm undertone. Coppers, steels, motors, chemicals and blue-chips were pace-makers on the rally.

Chrysler Spurts 2 Points.

The fare increase brought a gain of more than a point in Pullman, with other rail equipment shares moving up in sympathy. Chrysler spurted 2 points in the motors, as did Union Carbinde in the chemicals.

Steels converted into initial fractional declines into gains of about a point in U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Youngstown. Westinghouse turned in a similar performance in the electrical equipments, as did Dupont, Allied Chemical, Douglas Aircraft and Montgomery Ward.

Price changes elsewhere in the list were unimportant for the most part.

Five Aboard Yacht Found by Search Planes.

TOLEDO — (UP) — Five Toledo men who spent an exhausting 36 hours after the yacht Lillith II was caught in a Lake Erie storm were back home, unharmed, today.

The five were found on East Sister island late Monday by one of 10 planes which had searched for them. A coast guard cutter, Frederick Lee, rescued them from the island.

The men, who were beached when the craft ran aground on the island, are Archie Snell, owner of the boat, Dr. Philip R. Miller, Harry Hatch, jr., Jack Bradley, jr., and Howard Wilson.

They became hungry while on the island, killed and cooked a crane. They had only a little canned food with them.

SNELL GIVES UP CONGRESS SEAT

Veteran Minority Leader Not to Run Again; Speculation on Successor Rife.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Announcement by Rep Bertrand Snell (R) of New York, that he will retire to private life, today put the names of Reps Martin (R) of Massachusetts, and Wadsworth (R) of New York, in the foreground for the post of house minority leader which Snell will vacate.

Martin, already holding the unofficial title of "assistant minority leader," is expected to be a candidate and Snell's probable successor. Although Wadsworth was among the first to be mentioned, friends said they doubted if he would actively seek the post.

Others mentioned included Reps. Ditter of Pennsylvania, Jenkins of Ohio, Mapes of Michigan, and Fish of New York, leader of the insurgent wing of house Republicans, has repeatedly denounced the party leadership, both in congress and the national organization.

Snell in announcing his decision to end 21 years of service in the house, gave as his reason a desire to devote his attention to his personal affairs.

His announcement coincided with a meeting here of the executive committee of the Republican national

WPA 'INFLUENCE' IN ELECTIONS STIRS NEW FIRE

Official's Plea to 'Keep Your Friends in Power' Prompts New Probe Demands.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Charges that relief officials are trying to influence congressional elections broadened the controversy today over participation in primary or election contests by officials paid with government funds.

An address by Deputy Works Progress Administrator Aubrey Williams to organized relief workers, in which he told them to "keep your friends in power," brought demands by anti-New Deal Democrats for an investigation by the senate committee to investigate campaign expenditures.

Williams' remarks, at a meeting of the workers alliance yesterday, fanned the flames of a controversy which began early this month when WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins openly endorsed the candidacy of Rep. Otha D. Wearin against Sen. Guy M. Millette in the Iowa primary.

Would Urge Inquiry.

Sen. William H. King (D., Utah), New Deal opponent, charged that Williams' speech "undoubtedly was made to influence the elections," and said he would urge the senate campaign committee to determine if there was evidence of intimidation.

He was supported by Sen. Edward R. Burke (D., Neb.), another New Deal opponent, who said that "if that speech comes within the scope of the committee's authority it ought to be investigated."

Williams' address was delivered to about 800 members of the workers alliance, who had met here to protest the $1,000 maximum yearly wage for white collar and professional WPA workers.

He warned these members of the organization of relief workers that they should judge their friends "by the crowd they run with."

Reciting benefits gained by the unemployed under the New Deal, he said:

"Keep your friends in power.... I don't need to tell you. You know your friends very well."

Davis said French applied for WPA relief over the objections of his daughter, the former Ellen (Tucky) French, Astor's wife.

TRUCKING FIRM SUED 2ND TIME

Driver of Car Struck by Load of Whisky Files Attachment, Asks $700 Damages.

A second attachment against the Jaffa Trucking company of Chicago was filed in municipal court today by Dr G. P. Rebold of Grand Island, Neb., as the result of a collision on Park avenue east last Friday when one of the company's trucks, carrying 430 cases of whisky, struck the plaintiff's machine.

The attachment was filed against the tractor and trailer that figured in the collision and which is being held here.

In his petition naming the Brady Transfer company, Ft. Dodge, Ia., and the Jaffa company, Dr. Rebold asked $700 damages to his car. He said his car, a 1935 model, was demolished.

Yesterday Fred Alacca, 275 Park avenue east, whose car was one of the four damaged in the collision, filed an attachment and suit for $74 damage to his machine.

After hearing four witnesses in the truck driver's behalf yesterday afternoon, Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch denied the plea of George L. Lawrence, Chicago, that his case be reopened. Lawrence told the court that he had received a bump on the head and that he was not intoxicated at the time of the accident. He was sentenced to 90 days in jail.

FILES DEMURRER

Defendant in $1,000 Suit Cites Statute of Limitations.

Howard Davies, Bahl avenue, East Mansfield, defendant in a $1,000 damage suit as the result of a traffic accident 11 years ago, filed a demurrer in municipal court today, contending that the petition of the plaintiff, Mrs Dorothea Dillon, 412 Fifth avenue submitted in behalf of her son, William, 14, did not comply with the statute of limitations

Davies contends that the statute of limitations set forth in the general code require that the "action for bodily injury shall be brought within two years after the cause arose." He claims that the plaintiff waived the right to bring suit by dilatory action in not filing within two years time. He also pointed out that after 11 years many of the witnesses are either deceased or can not be found.

MOVES TO BREAK DEADLOCK OVER RELIEF MEASURE

Senator Lawrence Ready to Summon Senate Conferees; Talks to Davey.

COLUMBUS — (INS)—Sen. Keith Lawrence, president pro-tem of the senate, announced today he will ask the senate conferees to meet again with house managers to try and work out a relief program if Speaker Frank R. Uible requests it.

In a formal statement, Lawrence said:

"The dispute concerns the percentage of funds to be made available for relief in 1938. The senate wanted 60 per cent (of the utilities, malt, beer, wort and admissions taxes) and the house leaders 90 per cent. The conference committee agreed on 70 per cent. Had it been 75 per cent the senate probably would have gone along."

O. P. Van Schoick, in charge of relief in the auditor's office, estimated that 75 per cent of the tax will take care of the relief situation for 1938.

Under the 90 per cent asked by the house the 24 distressed counties would receive under the formula of distribution, $8,105,000. Under the 70 per cent agreed to by the senate, $6,304,113. If 75 per cent is finally agreed on, Van Schoick said, the 24 counties would receive $7,050,000 which when matched dollar for dollar, would net $14,100,000, or $600,000 more than the present estimated needs.

Defends Senate.

Lawrence's statement went on to declare the senate leaders had been criticized unfairly for their stand, and added:

"If past differences are forgotten and members of both houses will co-operate and adopt a conciliatory attitude, a definite program could be enacted within the next week."

CALLED BY DAVEY

CLEVELAND — (INS)—Taking a hand for the first time in the relief deadlock between the house and senate, Governor Davey today summoned Floor Leader Keith Lawrence of the senate and House Speaker Frank Uible to a conference in his hotel suite.

As a result of the meeting, set for 4 p. m., it was believed Lawrence would call the senate back into session Thursday to consider the house request for a new conference committee. Lawrence was to return by train from Columbus for the meeting.

Davey said he was hopeful the conference would bring the house and senate together on a relief program.

RICHBERG WINS ONE ROUND IN NLRB HEARING

Insists Free Speech and Free Press Still Paramount Questions in Case.

CATLETTSBURG, Ky.—Rights of free speech and a free press remain paramount questions in the national labor relations board charges against American Rolling Mill company, Donald R. Richberg asserted today.

Hearing of a broad complaint that the steel producing firm violated the Wagner labor act in its Ashland, Ky., plant was in recess until tomorrow while opposing counsel sought an out-of-court adjustment over differences resulting from a board demand for company records.

Victor in a fight to obtain a favorable ruling on the right of company officials and employes to participate in Ashland municipal politics, former NRA administrator Richberg said:

"Charges remaining in the complaint still bear heavily on the rights of free speech and a free press." They concerned the alleged solicitation of associations to compaign against collective bargaining and dissemination of anti-union propaganda.

Rules Out Charges.

Examiner George Bokat five hours after the hearing opened yesterday dismissed charges that the company violated the Wagner act because some of its supervisory officers campaigned in behalf of Ashland candidates with anti-union sympathies.

Bokat, replying to Richberg's declaration that those charges violated constitutional rights and tended to invalidate the entire complaint, said "the board does not forbid exercise of citizenship or liberties not in violation of the constitutions of the United States and Kentucky."

Richberg and other company counsel hailed the examiner's decision as an important victory for business subject to the act. Oscar Grossman, chief government counsel, declined comment, but prepared to press others of the score of charges.

Grossman said that if an agreement was obtained today on the submission of records in evidence testimony probably would be started tomorrow. Bokat said the hearing would be recessed again Thursday, when he must return to New York.

The charges resulted from complaints by the Ashland lodge of Steel Workers Organizing committee (CIO).

A Farmer's Diary

STARS

THE country has no monopoly on the stars They shine with equal brilliance on the town. But to see the heavens at their best a boy needs the woods and fields about him the wind across vast dark spaces. For many Boy Scouts or those in CCC groups this out-of-doors experience has been invaluable.

I shall never forget the first time I really saw the stars It was dusk of a summer evening after a day of hard work on the hilly farm where I was born I was about eight years old. After tussling a little, as boys will, my brothers and I lay down in the long grass of the lane to rest, hands clasped behind our heads.

The stars began to come out, and we counted them until they became too many. We looked for the constellations that we knew, the Big and Little Dippers, the evening star, the North star and the others We speculated as to what they were made of, how far away they were what made them shine so bright and twinkle so

Our father came and joined us He quoted from the Bible when he says 'When I behold thy heavens the work of thy fingers the moon and the stars that thou hast created what is man that thou art mindful of him . . .'

For a while we all lay very still each thinking his own thoughts . . . lost in the magnitude of the greatest spectacle in the universe. I have never outgrown that profound impression

BRASS COMPANY PRESENTS CASE

Calls Witness to Refute Union Charge of Discrimination in Employe's Discharge.

Had 'Lot of Scraps.'

"They had a lot of scraps," the witness said. "I saw Tony throw trucks off the racks. He would argue over castings given him to work on. I saw him refuse a box of castings."

Stirtzinger said that the "trouble with the boss" was as early at 1929, before the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, a CIO affiliate, started at the plant.

Colace, an employe for 14 years, said he first discussed union organization with employes in August, 1937. He served as organization chairman for the union, he said.

Stirtzinger was being cross-examined by Atty. Johnstone when recess was called for luncheon.

Stirtzinger denied that his testimony was prompted by jealousy.

It was expected that Stirtzinger would be cross-examined further at this afternoon's sessions.

DeGregoria testified earlier. An Italian interpreter was called to interpret his testimony.

He also testified that Colace had objected to doing day work, preferring piece-work.

"Everybody knew Ted (the foreman) and Tony had trouble," he testified. He frequently was criticized by his superior, he said.

Counsel for the labor board resumed its case this morning by calling Pete Osgar, a press operator, who said he attended a meeting of workers held at Johns park in 1935 when a strike was in progress at Barberton where the company's insulator division operates.

Osgar said a foreman asked him if he had attended and had admitted he had.

In cross-questioning, Osgar said he was "treated just as well after the union meeting as I was before."

Before closing his case, Atty. Johnstone submitted records showing that out of the 13 Ohio Brass employes who had signed applications for union membership, eight have been discharged and five are still employed.

Colace underwent a brief cross examination, directed by Atty. Veach yesterday.

During the examination he admitted that some of the workmen who attended the union organization meeting he called were still on the company's payroll.

He replied in the negative as Atty. Veach inquired whether he had been warned by his superiors to cease jerking trucks off casting supply racks and whether he objected to certain piece work operations.

"Isn't it a fact," Veach asked, "that the test rate you set on one item on which you were working, resulted in the doubling of your own production after the rate had been set?"

Colace said he did not double his output after the piece work rate had been adjusted.

Colace denied that he had threatened Daughterty and denied that the two had quarreled.

James Warrack, of 173 Penn avenue, a former foreman at the plant, testified that he had been associated with the plant 19 years and 9 months and that when he was discharged he was told there had been complaints of "labor agitation" on his part.

Warrack praised Colace as a "better than an average workman."

Asked whether the company at any time had asked foremen to check on union activity, Warrack said such requests had been made. He said A. D. Lynch, a former personnel director, addressed the plant employes and urged them not to join a union.

"It was about the time of the strike at the Rubber company (The Mansfield Tire and Rubber company) when a meeting of all employes was called by Lynch," Warrack testified.

"Lynch told them at that time that directors had decided not to pay any more dividends until wages had been restored to the 1929 level. He told them not to join a union, that they would be dealing with racketeers."

Three workmen who are employed as grinders in the same department with which Colace had been associated, were then called as labor board witnesses.

Among them was Carl Winbigler, who on direct examination denied, but admitted on cross-examination that he had earlier told Atty. Veach that "trouble" had existed between Colace and Daugherty.

Others who testified were John Winbigler and Joe Medek.

They were fellow employes of Colace and testified the discharged employe had been a good worker.

Duffy to Push Prosecution of Seven Davey Aids, Indicted in Fund Solicitation.

Dye termed the two indictments against him as "a lot of damn nonsense." He added:

"They don't amount to a tinker's damn—just a lot of foolishness worked up by the newspapers and fool politicians. I'm not going to do anything about it. I never solicited any campaign funds from civil service employes nor did I receive any. No, I'm not going to fight it. I'm not going to do anything about it."

Charles O. Wilson, head of the gasoline tax division and against whom three separate true bills were returned, declared "I have no comment whatever to make for publication."

J. L. Kennedy, superintendent of capitol building and grounds, likewise had "nothing to say at this time except that I'm not guilty." Frank W. Mowery, superintendent of the state office building, would make no comment.

Jury Reconvenes.

The grand jury convened again today, but Duffy declined to say whether further indictments might be forthcoming.

The bills were returned before Common Pleas Judge Charles A. Leach after Duffy personally escorted the jury from the state house to the courthouse. Judge Leach instructed the sheriff's office to notify the defendants today and arrange for their arraignment.

The investigation was launched after Francis Hooper, an employe in the tax commission, filed an affidavit charging he was solicited for a campaign contribution. Current at the time were reports of "assessments" by the Davey organization, headed by Ferd Pickens who had resigned as business manager of the division of aid for the aged.

High Officials Questioned.

Several high state officials appeared for questioning during the investigation. These included Commerce Director A. A. Benesch, who asserted the governor himself directed that the assessments be levied on state workers, but stipulated civil service employes not be solicited.

Later, Davey said in a radio address that he would not "run out" on his lieutenants, declared acceptance as opposed to solicitation of contributions from civil service workers was not illegal and admitted some of his aids were "over zealous."

The attorney general's office declared, however, that even acceptance of voluntary contributions from classified workers was a violation of the law.

Conviction on the charges contained in the true bills carries a fine of $500, six months imprisonment in the county jail, or both, and forfeiture of any public office.

75 Years Ago Today—

Confederate Army Menaces Key Cities Of North With Bold March Into Pennsylvania

Southern Troops May Sever Important Railroad Lines.

EDITOR'S NOTE:—This is the first in a series of daily "dispatches from the front" telling the story of the battle of Gettysburg as if the Confederate and Union armies were drawing together now instead of 75 years ago today. The "correspondent" is editor of the Richmond News Leader, author of the Pulitzer-prize biography "R. E. Lee," and an expert on military tactics. The story is rounded out by "bulletins" from Northern headquarters.

By DR. DOUGLAS S. FREEMAN

Hdqrs. Army of Northern Virginia, Chambersburg, Penna., June 28, 1863 (7:00 P. M.)—Lee's reorganized divisions, even stronger and more confident than after their triumph at Chancellorsville which "Stonewall" Jackson led in the great flank movement at Chancellorsville, preceded Longstreet and Hill into Pennsylvania and now is well in advance of the main force. Utmost secrecy concerning the movements of this corps is preserved. Couriers arriving from its commander, Lieutenant General R. S. Ewell, are conducted directly to General Lee's headquarters and are forbidden to talk.

The belief prevails in the army that Ewell is moving northward in two columns and that his objective is Harrisburg.

The assumption is that after Ewell takes Harrisburg, Lee will turn east and will march on Baltimore or on Philadelphia. Capture of those cities will force the evacuation of Washington and will strengthen the peace party in the north, which is anxious to end this fratricidal war.

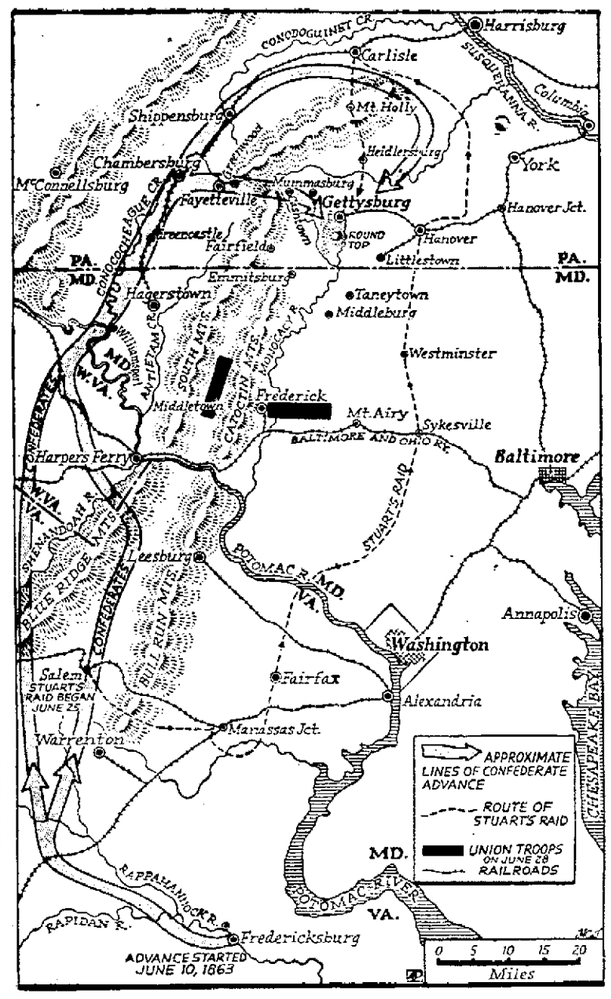
The boldness of General Lee's invasion of Pennsylvania is illustrated by the admitted fact that he has abandoned his communications with Virginia. He is not even attempting to bring supplies down the Shenandoah Valley and northward to his Army by way of Williamsport and Hagerstown. He is living off the country. Confederate quartermasters and commissaries are sending armed squads to all the farms, mills and stores around Chambersburg, and are buying supplies for which they offer to pay in Confederate money. If this currency is refused, officers take what they require for the troops and issue receipts.

Where Is Jeb Stuart?

While the utmost confidence prevails at the headquarters of an army which manifestly believes itself invincible, there is evidence of some concern over the continued absence of the cavalry corps, General "Jeb" Stuart was detached before the Army of Northern Virginia crossed the Potomac and was given the discretion usually allowed him by General Lee. Presumably, General Stuart rode around the rear of the Army of the Potomac and interposed his seasoned brigades between General Hooker's forces and Washington.

So great is the army's faith in General Stuart that all Confederates insist he is performing valuable service and may already be on the flank of General Ewell's advancing columns, but there is no denying the fact that the absence of Stuart is depriving General Lee of much-needed information concerning the movements of the Army of the Potomac. Nobody here professes to know where Hooker is.

General Lee is doing his utmost to procure the information that Stuart normally would supply. Southern sympathizers have been brought secretly to Lee's headquarters today and have been quizzed about roads. This afternoon, General Lee had a long interview with Major General I. R. Trimble who, before the war, was chief engineer of one of the railways in this part of Pennsylvania. General Trimble told General Lee that the country is ideal for maneuver or for battle. It is reported that, at the close of the interview, General Lee informed Trimble that, in his opinion, the decisive battle of the campaign would be fought in the vicinity of Gettysburg.



The Confederates' Route North.

BULLETIN

Headquarters, Army of the Potomac, Frederick, Md., June 28, 1863—This army has a new commander again. Maj. Gen. George G. Meade today replaced General Joe Hooker at the head of the troops upon whom the country counts to repulse Lee's invasion of the north.

Meade is not a brilliant officer but is considered "steady and safe."

Our scouts report that Lee's advance guard is on the Susquehanna near Harrisburg. It is believed he aims to cut the Pennsylvania railroad, important artery between the East and West.

Meade, with a force of about 100,000 is keeping a close watch on main forces of the Confederates which number somewhat less. There was a report here late today that Jeb Stuart's rebel cavalry has gone around our rear and has ridden through the suburbs of Washington itself.

are now on the soil of Pennsylvania and are determined to remain in the enemy's country until they win a decisive victory or, at the least, until they have insured Virginia against further invasion this year.

Lee At Headquarters.

Army headquarters are in a grove, known as Shatter's Woods, on the road from Chambersburg to Gettysburg. General Lee is there in person and is directing operations. The veteran First corps of the Army, under Lieutenant General James Longstreet, is encamped close by. Under Lieutenant General A. P. Hill, the new Third corps of the Confederates is in supporting distance.

General Lee has issued the most stringent orders for the protection of private property and has posted guards on all the roads that lead into Chambersburg. No officer below the rank of General is permitted to enter Chambersburg otherwise than on a pass signed by Lee himself. In order that the non-combatants may not be disturbed in their homes, the General is refusing to issue passes.

Lee Would Divide The North.

SEEKS APPROVAL OF BOND ISSUE

Shelby Council Wants $55,000 for Municipal Water Plant Improvements.

SHELBY—City council today sought consent of the state tax commission to submit a $55,000 bond issue to Shelby voters Aug. 9 for financing the council's $100,000 municipal water company improvements.

Funds from the bond issue would supplement an anticipated $45,000 federal PWA grant for the construction of an addition to the municipal water company for the construction of a water softening unit and for an approximate 250,000-gallon water tank in the downtown fire area.

After a brief discussion at the special meeting last night, council decided to submit the bond issue in August so as to strengthen the chances of obtaining a PWA grant for the project.

If council is authorized to submit the program to the voters in August, there will be one other levy at the primary. Renewal of its one-mill levy for general operating expenses will also be asked by the city.

At least one more bond issue is expected for the November election, city officials stated, with the proposed subway for the West Smiley avenue crossing of the Big Four railroad to be brought before the voters. Tentative plans called for approximately $50,000 for the project, although the amount of the bond issue expected has not been announced by the special committee appointed by Mayor D. B. Young.

TUESDAY JUNE 28 1938.

In his "Watching Trends" article today Preston Grover refers to "lucubrations" of congress—and that's a nice one for any word game.

A shortage of technicians, engineers and skilled workmen is reported in Germany—going to show that you can't kill off people and still have 'em.

Then again, there are some folks who would like to write a letter telling the president how to run the country—if they had three cents to buy a stamp.

Reduce Fires by Building Safely.

FROM Washington and state capitals come reports of government loans for building projects. Whether these are for large-scale housing, individual dwellings or industry, money and trouble will be saved in later years if sound rules of construction are followed.

One sure way to reduce the great loss of life from fire is to build safely.

In dwellings, such features as firestops in walls, and ceilings of cement on metal lath in cellars, serve to retard the spread of flames. A fire-resistive roof, proper chimney construction and correct installation of heating plants, all help to prevent fires.

In factories and mercantile buildings it is imperative that stairways and elevator shafts be enclosed and firewalls installed to separate the various sections of structures. This will prevent flames spreading upward from floor to floor or sweeping laterally through large areas. Openings in firewalls should be equipped with fire-doors. In order to resist flames coming from adjacent buildings, windows should be wired glass in metal frames.

Probably there will always be accidental ignition of fires, but the heavy toll of human life taken by fires, annually, can be curtailed to a large extent when buildings are constructed properly.

Soldier Road-Makers.

THE government of Ecuador has just reduced the period of compulsory military service from one year to eleven months. The young men released are to spend that twelfth month working on the national highways and irrigation projects. They will be under direction of the minister of public works instead of army authorities.

It sounds like a useful arrangement. Military training for soldiers is an essential part of military preparedness, of course, but it can be overdone to the neglect of other matters equally important to a nation.

A month less of soldiering for young conscripts all over the world might make an amazing difference in the world outlook if the month were spent in planting, harvesting, building or making something useful, according to the place, climate and season.

While engaged in imagining pleasant things, there is no harm in carrying it a little farther and dreaming of the tremendous results that would follow if the month were increased gradually until fully half the year were devoted to constructive activity and only half to military training.

Peaceful Uruguay.

THERE has just been an interesting change of administration in Uruguay. General Bladomir succeeded Dr. Terra as president, having won election by promises to restore democratic and constitutional government. Dr. Terra's regime has been a dictatorship.

The public, which usually takes inaugurations calmly, surprised everybody, including the new president, by an enthusiastic demonstration, including the blowing of whistles, shrieking of sirens and exploding of aerial bombs.

The retiring president awaited the incoming president at the Government House. There, in the presence of cabinet and members of the diplomatic corps, he placed the presidential sash around the shoulders of Gen. Bladomir and put into his hands the golden-headed ebony cane of office. Then the two men stood side by side on a balcony reviewing the inaugural parade.

It all sounds quite contrary to traditional South American behavior at such occasions, but is very pleasant to North American ears. Peaceful elections, peaceful inaugurations, a trend toward real democracy, and expressed good will toward the United States could spread farther down there with our entire approval.

Colonial Foolishness.

COLONIES, it has been proved again and again, often cost their possessors more than they return in profits. All the colonies of the world produce less than three per cent of the world's raw materials, according to Dr. Alvin H. Hansen, political economist at Harvard university. They do, however, have their uses.

"In the first place," he explains, "colonies offer what seems an adequate excuse for large public expenditures and thereby furnish a means to cure temporarily the problem of unemployment.

"Moreover, the administration of colonies furnishes a job outlet for trained middle and upper class people."

There may be another value today. Colonies give prestige and a sense of importance to the countries holding them. This may be a more common reason for wanting them than any of the others usually given. It is doubtless why Mussolini wanted Ethiopia and why Hitler wants to get back Germany's colonies, and it may be why the countries holding more than their share of colonies are unwilling to give up any of them.

Two big universities are conferring honors on Walt Disney, creator of Mickey Mouse—thus encouraging the idea that it is what you learn out of school that really counts.

It is being suggested that if Dizzy Dean is permanently out of baseball he might return to Oklahoma and run for office—but he may not be that dizzy.

As proof that the country hasn't gone to the dogs, it is being pointed out that the WPA still assumes responsibility for counting the trees.

Word comes that Dick Whitney, of the Sing Sing nine, tripled in a recent game—putting him in position to steal home, if nothing else.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

WHEN the future looks back to this age, merely one figure is likely to stand out in the United States, that of Franklin D. Roosevelt. That may be just, or unjust. Those of us who will not stand out may believe it is not fair. But F. D. R. is there, on top. Every action of his is historic.

It cannot be otherwise.

Thus, whether F. D. R. desires to or not, circumstances themselves force him to oppose men who would scuttle his policies, and work for the election of others who can be "trusted" to carry on his policies. The remainder of the president's term would be a flat failure if he did not follow such a course. And all his achievements would be wiped out by reaction if he did not project the fight to preserve them beyond his term in office.

Therefore, the bitter fights within the Democratic party for nominations will become more bitter not less. This factionalism, however, may not split the party so much as to give it new vitality, and young, vigorous blood.

The party, with its eager young liberals, will throw off the Old Guarders, who have held up the forward movement. There may be a few setbacks, but no such movement can be stopped. This has occurred in every era, throughout the history of the world.

* * *

CURIOUS TURNABOUT

In ages past, when parliaments were new and were made up of the proletariate, they invariably were associated with liberal movements versus the reactionary rulers.

But, as George Bernard Shaw pointed out in one of his plays some years ago, there may come a time when a king will save the people of England from a tyrannical and reactionary parliament, dominated by an anti-democratic group.

It is curious that, in the United States, many of the populace look upon President Roosevelt as the knight in armor battling single-handed (for the people) against a large part of congress, which does not express the will of the people.

The same thing has occurred in other countries. Dictators rose in Italy and Germany because their parliaments failed to heed the people. But, worse for those nations, the dictators soon did away with popular representation altogether. That could not occur in the United States or Great Britain. The danger in these two countries lies in negation by a minority group in congress or parliament, vetoing all action, except reaction.

England, at the moment, seems out of sympathy with its Tory parliament. But the Chamberlain Tory bloc controls enough parliamentary votes to prevent a vote of lack of confidence and a general election.

* * *

FIGHT? OF COURSE

Thus Mr. Roosevelt will fight. He cannot do otherwise.

Men and interests who oppose his measures will be "exposed," and attempts will be made to exterminate them.

Dictatorship?

Every leader is a dictator for his cause. History never changes concerning that.

But every Roosevelt adherent will say, "He is fighting for democracy, to free men of their shackles. He is trying to liberate men, women and children from a cruel economic and social dictatorship that deprives them of their rights. He will be known as the great economic liberator!"

History must judge.

Certain it is, the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt will stand out. Those of us who shout for him, those of us who deride him will be forgotten when we return to the dust.

HIS FIRESIDE CHAT

The foregoing was written prior to the recent Fireside Chat. The president not only stated his case fully in that, but enunciated a campaign document for all New Dealers. History may look upon it as historic.

"Whiteboard" For Schoolrooms.

The classroom of today is strangely and strikingly different from the little red schoolhouse of our grandfathers or even the study halls which most of our father frequented. Texts and techniques are altered almost beyond recognition. The slate, over which the soapstone pencil squeaked, its pendant sponge and in many places the old style desk have disappeared. Perhaps the last survival, even in modern college recitation rooms, has been the blackboard. Now, it too is on its way out.

The New York city board of education is experimenting with a "whiteboard," a logical move since boards with yellow and green backgrounds have been tried and discarded as no better than the time-honored black. First reports are highly favorable, pointing to the early adoption of the new style boards throughout the Gotham school system from where the idea may spread to all over the land.

The change is a thorough-going one involving not only a new color, but new materials. Instead of slate, the "whiteboards" are made of painted glass, slightly roughened. A special black chalk is used. Results are greater visibility, less eye strain, fewer headaches and better attention on the part of pupils. — Columbus Dispatch.

DON'T THROW 'EM AWAY MISTER!

Spy Scares Don't 'Take' In U. S.

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON— International spy scares in normal times do not "take" well in the United States.

During the period of our participation in the World war, when we were pretty cuckoo, we took spy stories somewhat seriously, although even then we were not as dotty concerning them as European peoples were. Today, however, attempts to stir up an espionage sensation in our midst are pooh-pooh'ed quite generally.

The recent big batch of indictments of supposed secret agents here from overseas "makes first page," to be sure, but it fails to excite the American public appreciably.

* * *

Which is all to the good. A national spy complex is unhealthy, because it verges on widespread "nuttiness."

It does in the United States, anyway.

Europe is a little different. There contacts are so close that an espionage agent can stand with one foot on his own side of an international frontier and his other foot on the other side, in spied-upon territory. We cannot be spied upon in this fashion except across the Canadian and Mexican borders, and no sensible American is afraid of spying from either of these two different directions.

* * *

A "RISK?"

True, the theory is advanced that a European air fleet might sail across the Atlantic and bomb New York or that a similar Asiatic fleet might trans-navigate the Pacific and blow up San Francisco.

But who is so "bughouse" as to regard either of these risks as a reasonable possibility!

And what spy could furnish a future imaginable invader with any information relative to New York's or San Francisco's vulnerabilities with which such invader is not already familiar!

* * *

SECRET GADGETS

We probably have some little army and navy gadgets which we think we are keeping secret against eventualities.

But the chances are that they don't amount to much.

In any event, each foreign embassy and legation in Washington has a military and naval attache, whose job it is to discover, study and report on all such inventions. These attaches are on friendly professional terms with our own experts, and they exchange ideas and information. We learn what their home folk are doing; they learn what we're doing. There isn't a deal of secrecy about it.

If one lone country's scientists hit on a record-breaking death-ray or something, that might be kept bottled up—but, hooey!

* * *

WHY AMATEURS?

It is likely that any corps of amateur secret agents can outclass the official staffs of our diplomatic corps' in our capital?

For example (to quote press stuff and indictments), the "red-headed hair-dresser" on the German transatlantic liner So-and-So? Of how much value is her spying apt to be?—in comparison with "dope" officially transmitted by Germany's diplomatically accredited attaches?

Not that there is any criticism of the German embassy's reports, either.

* * *

WORTH IT?

There is this distinction:

German and Japanese and Italian diplomatic reports are according to official Hoyle.

Red-headed German girls, and Japanese fisherboats off San Diego, and questionable Italians in lower New York are engaged in espionage operations.

These folk are a nuisance, maybe.

But nothing to get up a temperature about.

Don't let us permit ourselves to develop a spy scare over them.

Health Measures Longest Remembered.

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—It is quite possible that the more hectic lucubrations of the 75th congress —the court fight, anti-lynching, reorganization—will be overlooked in the years to come and the session remembered longest for two comparatively obscure health acts.

One is the act creating the National Cancer Institute. The other is the measure launching a well-financed national campaign against syphilis and gonorrhea.

Such health bills often remain in the public mind. Probably there are not many who, offhand, can name another single act of the 1906 session of congress, for instance, except a health measure. It is recalled to the memory of millions by the simple little formula printed on so many bottles and cans. It goes something to the effect that the enclosed product is "made in compliance with the pure food and drugs act of 1906."

The Cancer Institute got an initial $750,000 for a building and $400,000 for research and curative work. With almost exciting dispatch for a federal agency, it spent $200,000 of its first year's allowance for 10 grams of radium. That provided 20 units for distribution about the country to recognized cancer treatment institutions. It made radium treatment available to hundreds of cancer victims who otherwise never could have come within reach of an institution rich enough to buy the expensive stuff.

* * *

Research Projects Aided.

THE LAW is broad in scope with a view to inviting wide research by skilled specialists at the same time more are being trained. Subsidies are provided for recognized research projects. To Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence of the University of California went $30,000 for continued work on his cyclotron, which induces radium ray activity in such inert objects as common salt. Experiment must determine whether it is more effective in this form than from true radium.

Dr. Louis Feiser of Harvard has received $8,000 to continue his experiments with coal tar derivatives which have been found to cause cancer in mice. Finding a cause may help to disclose a cure.

Sixteen physicians are being trained in cancer treatment at government expense. Fellowships are granted to apt students to continue special lines of research.

* * *

Social Disease Front.

FOR treatment of syphilis and gonorrhea the legislation authorizes up to $3,000,000 a year. Of this, $2,600,000 goes to the states for use in providing laboratory facilities to aid physicians in diagnosing and treating the diseases and in publicizing the need of treatment.

The remaining $400,000 goes to the venereal disease division of the bureau of public health for use largely in hunting new methods of diagnosing the diseases and in finding cures for them when identified.

Specific tests and specific cures for syphilis are known and widely used, although open to improvement. Gonorrhea, however, has been a medical stepchild, often ignored or frequently left to the ministrations of the least reputable physicians in a community. Badly needed are, first, a means of determining under varied conditions when the disease has been contracted and, second, and equally important, a test to show when the disease has been cured.

Listen, World!

This Itch of Isms . . . "Jobs Will Cure It!" (Says William M. Juengel.)

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

STOP KIDDING YOURSELF. Stop yawning and trying to change the subject. Stop saying—"Baloney! It's all newspaper stuff. The thing that happened to Russia and Austria and Spain can't possibly happen here. America's different."

BE YOUR AGE! THE THING THAT HAPPENED TO AUSTRIA IS HAPPENING HERE. THE ISMS HAVE COME TO AMERICA! AND UNLESS SOMETHING HAPPENS PRONTO, DEMOCRACY WILL SOON BE IN THE MUSEUM 'LONGSIDE THE MODEL T FORD!

Sounds like a nightmare, doesn't it? Suppose someone had told you, ten years ago, that this country would be crawling, presently, with imported agitators... that vast industries would be in their death grip, worker armed against worker, with a Communist sniper siccing 'em on...Suppose he'd said that we'd have Nazi and Fascist camps, popping up like a dose of hives, all over the land....with Nazi plug-uglies beating a crippled American editor, and trampling on his flag, because he had dared to protest against them....

Suppose anyone had told you that, ten years ago....You'd have hah-hahed, wouldn't you? Yet these things, and others far worse, are happening at this very moment—and they constitute an infinitely greater peril to America than any conceivable foreign invasion.

Even if our Asiatic and European neighbors should get hostile notions, it's a long jump across either the Atlantic or Pacific.... BUT IT'S NO JUMP AT ALL FROM A COMMUNIST LOCAL TO THE RICHEST FACTORY OR THE FINEST HOUSE — WITH RED RUIN IN YOUR HEART AND A BOMB UNDER YOUR ARM.

It would cost a lot to freight a few million fighters into our front yard....BUT IT ISN'T COSTING A CENT TO SELL A STARVING STEVEDORE OR A JOBLESS MECHANIC THE IDEA THAT HE HAS BEEN DONE DIRT AND OUGHTA GET A HUNK.

Why has the famous American grin turned to a surly sneer? Why have relationships between American capital and labor become charged with abnormal bitterness? That's why—the Isms are on the job. We're being fed sedition. THE WAR HAS STARTED! Right now, while we're building bigger and bloodier guns to ward off the mad dogs oversea, the agents of those same mad dogs are starting the filthiest mess we've ever faced in our own alleys and attics, pool halls and shop yards.

Yes, but what's the answer?

"JOBS ARE THE ANSWER!" says young William M. Juengel of Kenosha, Wis. "Revolution starts in unemployment and the pain, hate, anger and shame which accompany it. I lived for 18 years in Germany and I know that these things started their National Socialism. Idle people, robbed of all healthy interests, have nothing to do but listen to glib talkers who give worthless promises and play on their resentment nd self-pity.

"And now we have the same conditions in America, with the same results. But you can't stop Isms by words or laws or police clubs. There is only one way to stop America's demoralization. GIVE THE LIE TO THE ISMS. PUT EVERY MAN WHO CAN WORK INTO A JOB.

"As for those disguised agitators, who band into organized groups, I say you're not worth America's hospitality. If you must be Nazi, go back to the country which openly admits that form of government — and let American workers enjoy that Liberty and Equality which are the envy of every European."

William M. Juengel, 28 yrs.
Kenosha, Wis.

Give them jobs . . . jobs that will satisfy their restlessness, redeem their self-respect, and restore those ideals of Democracy which are America's only reliable wall against the maneuverings of lesser governments—you've said a wise mouthful, son!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—This is the day we get some correspondence off our chest.

So we thumb through the mail basket and pick up a letter from a man in Oakland, California. He sends in a clipping of a column I wrote about a Swedish restaurant in New York. And he says: "That sounded good. Tell me the name of that restaurant, will you? I'm coming to New York soon and I want to go there."

Well, that's the second query today about that restaurant. A lady in Jersey City wants to know where it is and how much it costs. I must have neglected to give the name when I wrote about it. It's the Stockholm restaurant on 51st street between 5th and 6th avenues. And you get a big dinner for $1.50. The correspondent from Jersey City says she and her husband are thinking of celebrating their anniversary there, "because it sounds so mouth-watering the way you describe it." It's more than that, ma'am; it breaks your heart.

* * *

AND here is another letter from Oakland, California, from a man whose initials are J. N. Not long ago I asked if anyone knew whether Al Jolson's name stood for Albert, Alfred, Allen, or what? My friend from the coast is giving me the rib on that one.

"Didn't it ever occur to you," he queries, "that it doesn't have to stand for anything; that it might stand for itself?" Mr. N. goes on to explain the metamorphosis of proper names, and adds: "I have always been puzzled how some colyumists confess their helplessness to readers instead of looking up a fact. For a name, the best authority is its wearer. And speaking of names, why not try to live up to yours and Tuck in all facts neatly?" However, I don't think he's really mad, because he concludes with this little P. S.: "I'm as bad as you are—here I'm wasting precious minutes and a stamp on a matter that's of importance zero." (Miss Jones, take a letter to Mr. N. of Oakland and be sure to include an extra stamp to reimburse him for his trouble.)

* * *

MR. LEO S. ROSENCRANS, of Detroit, sends in a note and he asks to know:

"If 8:20 is the exact time Abraham Lincoln was shot—how do you explain the fact that Mr. Lincoln did not arrive at Ford's theater until 8:30?"

This comment refers to a statement of some time ago that the hands on jewelers' clocks were usually set at 8:20 because that was the hour Lincoln was supposed to have been shot.

You are not the first who has questioned me on that one, Mr. Rosencrans. Not long ago an Alabama editor asked me about it and then gave an explanation that, to me, seems entirely plausible. He says the hands on jewelers' clocks are set at 8:20 because that leaves sufficient space on the clock's face for the jeweler's name, and other advertising.

But I thank you for your interest. And I agree with you that the Lincoln legend is pure buncombe. Wouldn't it be a dull world without a bit of blarney now and then?

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

Cockles of the Heart.

A favorite topic of discussion among the Talmudic philosophers used to be:

"How many angels can dance on a point?"

Now nobody had ever seen an angel prance upon any such unlikely place.

There being no eye-witnesses, no personal knowledge, the testimony perforce completely hearsay and conclusory, there was therefore provided a beautiful subject for interminable speculation and dispute.

Somewhat similarly for centuries people have discussed and at times heatedly the matter of warming the cockles of the heart —though nobody has ever yet succeeded in locating a single sample in that organ!

The allusion to the idiom is to fancied resemblance in shape between the cockleshell and the heart together with a peculiar language confusion resulting from the similarity between kardia, the Greek word for heart, the cardium, the Latin term for the particular bivalve mollusk. Yet the word "cockle" itself is probably of Celtic derivation.

Treasured Letters.

I read your letter many times,
I con it as I go,
I keep it in my purse, at last
By heart its words I know.

And still I read it and reread
Although each phrase is clear;
So do I treasure what you write,
That is how very dear

Your letters are. If this you knew,
I'm sure you would not be
Remiss in writing when so much
Each letter means to me.

CENTRAL VACANT LOTS GOOD RENT PROJECT SITES

Non-Productive Properties With All Facilities Easy to Develop.

There are thousands of vacant or nonproductive building lots in the downtown or nearby areas of many cities which afford adequate sites for income-producing large-scale rental housing projects, Federal Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald said recently.

Already provided with sufficient police, sewerage, water, and fire protection, such areas may offer private capital a sound opportunity for long-term investment while at the same time furnishing suitable living quarters for thousands of rent payers within walking distances of their work, McDonald pointed out.

"The first approach to a realization of such projects must be through change in the zoning laws, building codes, and other such measures in the individual cities and thus permit the construction of such large-scale rental housing projects in areas which are now restricted to commercial or industrial endeavors," McDonald said.

Care in Rezoning.

"Sufficient area would have to be rezoned to furnish the proper neighborhood characteristics for such residential uses. It would be unsound in every sense to 'spot' such projects in downtown or nearby areas if the immediately neighboring areas contained adverse factors. The federal housing administration believes at least 20 acres would be necessary for the development of proper large-scale rental projects of this type and which could develop good neighborhood characteristics.

"Of course, the land values in downtown and nearby areas of individual cities would govern the size and character of the projects.

"A certain amount of razing of nonincome-producing buildings should be feasible for such large-scale rental projects. In fact, a greater income over a longer period should result from such projects than that now possible through utilization of the deteriorating properties.

"There is a wide range of possibilities for private capital in such large-scale rental projects in downtown ar nearby areas through the multi-family and group-housing projects phase of the federal housing administration's operations. The whole subject brings up a field of operations which, while comparatively new, has already been entered with commendable results.

FOR HIGH GLOSS

To reduce the gloss of a too highly polished floor finish rub the surface with oil and pumice powder. Pumise and water may also be used with success.

Planned Design Enhances Store Desireability

Construction of small stores and shopping centers in residential communities has often been bitterly opposed and the storm center of prolonged zoning fights.

The usual complaint is that the centers or shops are not attractively designed, are masked by huge signs, and painted in a manner calculated not only to attract attention but to stop traffic.

Many of the more recent subdivision developments have compromised the debate by erecting the stores but regulating design and restricting signs and exterior paint. The results attained have been pleasing to the residence-property owners and profitable to the business men.

THE MEANING of Fidac was explained yesterday at the meeting and annual Fidac program of the American Legion auxiliary by Mrs. Walter L. Beckley, department vice president. Mrs. Marjorie Ludwig was in charge of the program on which Mrs. Floyd Buzzard, native of Epernay Mare, and Mrs. Walter Hill, former resident of St. Navarre, appeared.

Mrs. Buzzard sang the French national anthem and gave a talk on her war experience. Mrs. Hill also spoke and displayed a number of souvenirs. Her daughter, Dorothy Ann, was dressed in native French attire to show the costumes.

"Home-Coming" was the title of the reading which Robert Page presented, and Mrs. Robert Jones gave four piano selections. This was followed by vocal offerings by Mrs. C. Brown accompanied by Mrs. Carl Walker.

Mrs. Eugene Flory, president, was in charge of the meeting which was attended by 125 members and guests. The session was opened by the chaplain, Mrs. Daisy Andrews, and committee reports followed. Mrs. Herman Hautzenroeder reported welfare work, and Mrs. Howard Neuman reported 241 paid members for this year and one paid through 1939. There was a total of $1,095 34 taken in on poppy sales, Mrs. Hollis Moorhead reported.

Mrs. Crawford, president of the Shelby auxiliary, who was present with eight members, spoke briefly. She was followed by Mrs. Mary Johnson, president of the Spanish-American War Veterans auxiliary, and Mrs. Harry Willis, member of the board of trustees of the Memorial building. There were four members of the Spanish War auxiliary and two members of the Daughters of Union Veterans also present.

After the program and business meeting luncheon was served in the dining room and bridge was then played at six tables. Prize winners were Mrs. Earl Ports and Mrs. Maxwell. Mrs. Clara McNamara and her committee members were in charge of the social hour. For the luncheon the room was decorated with a basket of flowers, presented by Mrs. Willis, French flags and Fidac colors.

The next regular auxiliary meeting will be held July 11 at the Legion home.
